

The Dream Flag Project™

Poetry—Art—Connection for Students in Grades K-12

2011 Philadelphia Area Dream Flag Celebration

What?

All participants in the 2011 Project are invited to:

Attend the celebration if you can:

- ◆ Bring your Dream Flags to connect all Dream Flags together
- ◆ Enjoy pre-program art and poetry reading activities for all.
- ◆ Celebrate with representative poetry readings, music and song

OR
Send Dream Flags Lines and/or poems to connect and share!

When?

Saturday, May 7, 2011
Philadelphia Kimmel Center
(Broad & Spruce Streets)
1:30 Lead Teachers Arrive with Flags
2:00 Pre-Program Activities
3:00-4:30 Celebration

How?

By April 1: RSVP to Attend OR to Send.

To Send: by May 2 (changed from April 22)—
Email poems or mail Flag Lines to address below .
To Attend: on May 7—Lead teacher will arrive at Kimmel Center with your flags by 1:30. Have all flags connected in a line with a label flag telling your school and location. Students arrive by 2:30. Schools chaperone their own students at all times.

More details sent after RSVP.

Questions? dreamflags@agnesirwin.org

The Agnes Irwin School is the home of The Dream Flag Project.

8th Dream Flag Celebration in Philadelphia

Each year in Philadelphia we celebrate the amazing diversity of dreams that comes from what schools create when they participate in The Dream Flag Project. It's a free event for everyone.

Over the years, the volunteer efforts have created a carnival of poetry and dreams. Before the program, students can decorate Dream Flag tee-shirts, create Dream Flag buttons, work on a common dream banner, make Dream Flag music read at an open mike for Dream Flag poetry, and admire some of 2-3,000 Dream Flags on display.

During the program, representative readers from each school take the stage to read their Dream Flag poems while musicians improvise accompaniment, then we ceremonially connect a 2-3,000 Dream Flags and join in song.

We hope that one and all can join us for this hope-filled and joyous event!

mail to: The Dream Flag Project of AIS lthan Ave. and Conestoga Rd.
Rosemont, PA 19010 USA

